

Part-Time Lecturer/ Adjunct Faculty Positions (South Jersey)

The School of Nursing at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey provides unique opportunities in teaching, scholarship, clinical practice, and multidisciplinary collaboration within a world-class research university. Innovative academic offerings include bachelor's, master's, post-master's, DNP and PhD programs that are preparing nurse leaders of today and tomorrow at campus locations in Newark, New Brunswick, and Blackwood, NJ.

We are seeking part time/adjunct faculty to teach in our undergraduate nursing program located in Blackwood (southern NJ). We are seeking faculty qualified to teach these nursing subjects:

- Fundamentals
- Medical/Surgical
- Gerontology
- Pediatrics
- Mental Health
- Community Health

Qualifications:

- Minimum master's degree in Nursing.
- Doctoral Degree in Nursing or related discipline, preferred.
- Current licensure or eligibility for RN licensure in New Jersey.
- Teaching experience with nursing students preferred.

To Apply: Please email a Letter of Interest and current CV or resume to:

Dr. Catherine Morse
morsec1@sn.rutgers.edu.

Please indicate the job title in the subject line of your emails.

Applicants who are invited for an interview will be requested to submit two letters of recommendation.